Facing the challenges in Post COVID period

Our educational field was also affected by COVID, like all other fields. It didn't remain untouched, several drastic changes took place in it.

whole curriculum as well as examination pattern was changed, Syllabus for the examination was reduced. A lot of changes in the personal behaviour of students were observed. Their concentration was diverted towards other less important things and regular study was neglected by them. Their closeness to electronic gadget increased. A particular kind of aggression towards others was also seen in them. Their study negligence was also noticed. Their writing habit also came to an end. Indiscipline became a common thing in them. All these problems emerged before us for the first time.

After school has begun, it was challenge to bring the students on the right path. We all are committed to do everything possible in favour of our students. We accepted this challenge and started to work.

We began guiding them frequently considering their problems. We undertook their personal counselling. We increased teaching duration to impart them maximum knowledge. We gave stress on the development of their writing skill. We introduced regular weekly tests and began evaluation of their academic performance sincerely. We also found out other possible reasons for not getting good results. We knew, we wouldn't get better progress of our students overnight. In Spite of doing hard work that too on regular basis, with lot of hopes, was our priority. We are happy to announce that we have been successful in getting our expectation fulfilled with good margin. Now the situation had changed a lot. seeing the noteworthy change , now we are hoping for best results. We are sure that our goal will be achieved soon. We also know very well that we have to travel a very long distance. Staying at one place, is not what we are supposed to do. We strongly believe in constantly moving ahead.
